

EVERYTHING UNDER THE SUN

With a new opening in Kos this May, and three other stunning resorts in the Mediterranean region, all with golden, sandy beaches, Michelin-starred menus, luxurious spas and free car hire, Ikos Resorts continue to redefine all-inclusive holidays

PERFECT VISION

Many of Ikos Aria's deluxe bungalow suites come with private pools

On a gently curving stretch of golden sand by the Aegean Sea, a series of beautifully appointed white villas look out over turquoise water, a pristine sandy shore and fragrant pines beyond.

Ikos Aria on Kefalos beach in Kos is the newest addition to the Ikos Resorts collection, and is just as special as its predecessors. With more than 47 acres of landscaped gardens, pathways, pool decks, restaurants, bars, beachside walkways, tennis courts and a spa, this exquisite property offers a world of choice and luxury, with wonderful views and a rich cultural heritage of ancient sites and unique architecture.

And, as with all Ikos Resorts, it offers families, friends and couples a truly all-inclusive escape. Typified by their pristine beachfront settings, coupled with excellent childcare, attentive service and five-star pampering, Ikos Resorts are particularly renowned for revolutionising the concept of luxury all-inclusive holidays, with their Infinite Lifestyle offering.

The Infinite Lifestyle concept means that even the finest of details have been considered, ensuring that everything a guest might need is included as part of their stay. It's a guarantee that means guests receive an unparalleled level of service and exclusive benefits, including menus created by Michelin-starred chefs, 24-hour room service, more than 300 local and international wines, free hire of a Mini Cooper for a day, great childcare options, water sports and activities, poolside waiter service and more on an all-inclusive basis, with no surprise extra costs.

Two beautiful island properties – Ikos Dassia in Corfu and Ikos Oceania in Kos – offer the best in beachside living and luxury, while the striking landscape of the Halkidiki Peninsula in Northern Greece at Ikos Olivia is a wonderful retreat from modern life. Opening in May 2019, Ikos Aria will join Ikos Oceania as the brand's second Kos location while, in May 2020 Ikos will launch its first Spanish property, Ikos Andalusia. The hotel will sit on the glorious Costa del Sol, near cosmopolitan Marbella and historic Estepona. Offering miles of golden sand, this beautiful beachfront idyll provides more than 17 acres of delightfully landscaped gardens and leisure facilities.

Bringing a new era of hospitality to the Mediterranean and beyond, every single Ikos resort is not only a beautiful and luxurious escape from the frantic pace of our daily lives, but is also a glorious example of the ease and pleasure that a truly all-inclusive break brings.

ba.com/ikos